ABSTRACT

An apparatus, system and method for transmitting packets over a wireless network, wherein the packet identifies an antenna and/or antenna element among a plurality of antenna and/or antenna elements for transmitting the packet. The plurality of antenna elements is a multibeam antenna with a substantially conical or cylindrical construction.